Sen. LaFollette is quite a Marathon speaker himself.

Bravo, Taft! Messrs. Morse and Walsh haven't stayed in long enough yet!

New Hampshire took its turn with a State House fire scare yesterday. It pays to watch out.

Justice Harlan's fighting blood is up, and he doesn't care if Chief Justice White knows it, too.

With a population of 7,262,963, dear old Lummox still stands as the marvel of human gregariousness.

With $1,500,000 in bequests and $1,000,000 promised by the state of Massachusetts, all within two weeks, M. I. T. may be said to have received the glad hand.

When sailing, yesterday, for Europe, John F. McLean, proprietor of the Cincinnati Enquirer, declared that newspaper men bore him, which is quite remarkable for a newspaper man to admit and which must indicate that John R. is very troubled about something.

Vermont lost one of its less noisy great men in the death, yesterday, of Prof. Cyrus Guernsey Pringle, the noted botanist, at Burlington. The nature of his life work is less given to ostentatious display than many another activity, and Prof. Pringle seems to have fitted into it very well indeed. Practically his entire life was given to the science of the vegetable life of the universe, and in that endeavor he contributed very largely to the more general knowledge of the subject through collections made for many institutions throughout the world.

CONGRATULATIONS TO MONTPELIER.

By the completion and dedication to-day of a costly municipal structure, Montpelier reaches what might well be considered an epoch in its development as a city. To be sure, its career as an incorporated city dates back upwards of twenty years and it has been taking on the various adjuncts of municipal life as they seemed to become imperative; yet municipal life was not complete without a municipal home. Now, after long planning, the city hall project finds its consummation in the commodious building on Main street, a building which is designed to meet the requirements of the city for many years to come, furnishing headquarters for each of the city departments and adding a new dignity to the municipal life of the community. The dedication of the building is an important event in the history of the growing city and is something which the entire state takes more than a passing interest in, since

General Wood has the most important mark of success, i. e., always ready!

That "always ready" is the motto of our store.

Montpelier is the capital of the state and since every evidence of progress in one of the component parts of the state is naturally pleasing to every other part of that commonwealth. As the nearest municipal neighbor, Barre takes added pleasure and extends congratulations to Montpelier on the visible indication of solidity and progressiveness in the sister city "down the creek."

DIAZ' RESIGNATION.
To be forced out of the presidency is a deep personal humiliation for Porfirio Diaz after he had ruled with such an iron hand for so many years, but

UNITED STATES BONDS

INVITING PROPOSALS FOR PANAMA CANAL BONDS

TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

Office of the Secretary, Washington, May 16, 1911.

The Secretary of the Treasury offers to the public $50,000,000 of the bonds of the Panama Canal Loan authorized by section 39 of the act approved August 5, 1903, as supplemented by the acts of February 4, 1910, and March 2, 1911.

DESCRIPTION OF BONDS.—These bonds will bear interest at the rate of three per cent per annum; will be dated June 1, 1911; will be payable in United States gold coin fifty years from the date of their issue, and the interest thereon will be payable, in United States gold coin, quarterly on the first days of September, December, March and June. They will be issued in denominations of $100, $500, and $1000 of coupon and registered bonds. They will be exempt from all taxes or duties of the United States, as well as from taxation in any form by or under State, municipal, or local authority. They will not be available to national banks as security for circulating notes, but they will be receivable, like all other United States bonds, as security for public deposits in national banks. The law forbids their sale at less than par, and provides that all citizens of the United States shall have equal opportunity to subscribe therefor.

ALLOTMENT OF BONDS.—In considering bids, the bidders offering the highest prices will receive the first allotment. Of two or more bidders offering the same price, those asking for the smaller amounts of bonds will receive priority in allotment. The Department, however, reserves the right to reject any or all bids, if deemed to be in the interest of the United States so to do. Upon receipt and classification of the bids hereby invited, the successful bidders will be advised of the acceptance of their bids.

FURTHER INFORMATION.—The bonds will be ready for delivery on or about July 1, 1911.

that same iron rule was responsible for his undoing in Mexico's national affairs. Now harassed by revolution and physical ailment, the old man is a pitiable object indeed; but the present stability of the country demanded his retirement from the executive headship. As for the future of the government, there is some reason for misgiving. What has been done in the case of Diaz may be done again when the people or any considerable portion of the people, rise in their indignation and even bear arms against their officials. Successful revolution is bound to breed revolution, and the government at Mexico City is likely to rest on an unstable foundation from this time forth. When disgruntled, the hot-blooded Mexicans will start a revolution. The situation does not augur well for the development of business in the republic to the south of us, because capital is chary of locating where there is a likelihood of loss at any time. Stability in the government is one of the requisites which capital demands in a country; and stability Mexico does not have at the present time, nor is likely to have. Therefore, Mexico is in a serious position.

A FRESH EVIDENCE OF PROGRESS IN VERMONT.

How can a state be progressive as a whole and yet show such marked gains in various phases of its activities as Vermont is showing nowadays? The answer is, that judgment concerning Vermont which causes one to put down in black and white that Vermont is going backwards, or merely standing still, is falsely founded. Only recently we had occasion to call attention to the fact that quite material advancement had been made in the industrial life of the state as shown by the statistics of the United States census bureau. Prior to that was the announcement, from the same source, of very large gains in the farming side of the state, as shown in increased products and added valuation of farm land. Now, from the same generally credited authority, comes the statement of another phase of Vermont, the valuations of domestic animals, poultry and bees, as given in detail in to-day's Times. Perhaps our readers may think that too much stress is being placed on these reports; but to The Times it seems that the emphasis placed on the reports is necessary to reawaken the confidence in the state which may have been shaken by false, or misleading, statements. All of them have given indication of progress and a certain measure of prosperity. Vermont people are not satisfied with the rate of progress, but they would prefer to have it known that the old state is still advancing, although slowly, rather than that it is decadent.

A Remarkable Fact

In the statement for the first three months of 1911 is that our company had paid its members during that time dividends of $216,980.48. It is a mutual company, operated in behalf of its members exclusively and with a view to giving them the best possible service at the lowest net cost.
